

LIMEDALE WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

MRS. HONORA A. GLIDEWELL, AGE 68, OF INDIANAPOLIS, GETS TOO NEAR FLAME WHILE COOKING SUPPER.

SONS EFFORTS WERE IN VAIN

Despite the heroic efforts of her son to save her life, Mrs. Honora A. Glidewell 68 years old, was burned to death at her home, 429 Oxford street, last night about 1:30 o'clock. Thomas Glidewell, her son, answering his mother's screams for help, found her sitting on the side of a cot in the kitchen, frantically trying to extinguish the blaze with her hands. A gasoline stove near by, one burner of which was lighted, explained the manner in which her clothing became ignited.

Her son threw a blanket over her and smothered the flames, but not until his mother's body was burned almost to a crisp. By the time the neighbors arrived Mrs. Glidewell was dead, having lived only a few minutes after her screams. All her clothing was burned off and her body charred on the head to the feet.

Thomas Glidewell says he was sitting on the front porch and his other, who has been ill for several weeks, but able to be up yesterday, was in the house preparing the evening meal. Suddenly he screamed for him, and, running in, he found her clothing and a cot burning. After putting out the flames which enveloped his other's body he dragged the cot out of the room, as the woodwork was catching fire. An alarm is turned into fire headquarters, but only a few buckets of water were necessary to extinguish the blaze in the house. Mrs. Glidewell survived by four daughters and a son.—Indianapolis Star.

Mrs. Glidewell is well known here having lived for years at Limedale. Her husband, who now dead, was a brother of William Glidewell, who lives on north Madison street, and a brother of sheriff Marion Glidewell. Thomas Glidewell, her husband, died about eight years ago at Indianapolis, where he had moved from Limedale only a few years before. A funeral was Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Marion Glidewell and William Glidewell went to Indianapolis to attend the funeral.

LARGE BARN IN FLOYD TOWNSHIP IS BURNED

A large farm barn belonging to Polk Huffman, of north Floyd Township, this county, was totally destroyed by fire at near 7:30 last Saturday evening. Mr. Huffman lost many tons of hay, together with a large amount of grain, and all his wagons, buggies, harness and farm tools. The origin of the fire is unknown but is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion, as no one had been about the barn since noon Saturday. Mrs. Huffman was near the barn milking a short time before the fire but saw no signs of fire about the building. After returning to the house she looked toward the barn and saw it ablaze all over and no possible chance of saving the building or any contents.

The barn was insured with Richardson & Hurst in the Ohio Farmers' Insurance Company and had $200 on barn, $200 on feed and $200 on barn tools, which amounts does not nearly cover Mr. Huffman's loss.

ANOTHER DIVORCE SUIT IS FILED

WILLIAM IRWIN ALLEGES THAT GERTRUDE IRWIN ASSOCIATED WITH LEWD AND IMMORAL PERSONS AND IS CRUEL AND INHUMAN.

SEPERATED ONCE BEFORE

Alleging that his wife, Gertrude Irwin, is cruel and inhuman in her treatment of him and that she has associated with lewd and immoral persons, both men and women, William Irwin, night clerk at the post office, has filed suit for divorce. He also asks the custody of their three children William, Adeline and Frank, aged 15, 13 and 8 respectively.

Mr. Irwin, in his petition which was filed on Thursday by his attorneys, Allee & Hughes, states that they were married July 12, 1894, and lived together as man and wife until several months ago, when there was a separation. They settled their differences at that time by an agreement, which he alleges, she afterwards broke.

Mr. Irwin, at that time filed suit for divorce but it was later withdrawn. He states that the last separation occurred on Sept. 10 this year. In his petition he alleges that she has been cruel and inhuman in her treatment of him, having struck, beat and scratched him and at times refused to prepare his meals. He asks absolute divorce and the custody of his children. A summons was issued for Mrs. Irwin this morning, which is returnable on Oct. 1.

THEY TOOK $20 FROM HIM

The Indianapolis News in telling of several robberies and hold-ups during Fair week has the following regarding a Stilesville man:

"William D. Wallace, who gave his address as Stilesville, reported to the police that he had been held up at Standard avenue and Division street by two men, who he alleges jumped from a wagon while he was passing, thrust a revolver in his face and took $20 away from him. He says they ran after the daylight holdup. Bicyclemen Trimpe and Rucker, who investigated were unable to find either of the robbers."

CASEY SIMS NOW ASKS A DIVORCE

CHARGES WIFE WITH CAUSING HIM HUMILIATION AS SUSPECT IN HENDREN MURDER CASE.

SUIT IS FILED IN BRAZIL

Jesse Simms, a well known blacksmith of this city, who obtained considerable undesirable notoriety the past few days through being sweated on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of W. O. Hendren, night clerk at the Greencastle Traction Station, two years ago, filed suit in the Clay Circuit Court this afternoon for divorce from his wife, Bertha Simms. The parties were married in May, 1908, and separated on August 18th last.

The suit for divorce is the result of Simms' being sweated on suspicion in the Hendren murder case. Simms charges that his wife circulated false reports to the effect that he was implicated in the murder of Hendren and he charges that it was through statements made by her that he was suspected by the Putnam county officers and humiliated by being sweated by the officers on a false charge.

After their separation the officers came here from Greencastle to investigate a rumor that involved Simms in the murder of Hendren, the station agent of the T. H. I. & E., at Greencastle, and questioned the wife. It is said that she gave information which at first led the officers to believe that Sims may have been the guilty man, but the rumors were run down and found to be unfounded. The investigation was dropped.

Mrs. Jennie Freeman, of West National avenue, mother of Mrs. Simms, stated this morning to a representative of the Times that Mrs. Simms had told the officers no more than they asked her and that she did not try to falsely implicate her husband in the crime, as Simms stated was the case. She said that the first that they knew of the investigation was when Deputy Prosecutor Lee called up the house and stated that the Greencastle officers were down here and wished to talk with her. The woman denies emphatically that she circulated false charges against Simms.

Mrs. Freeman states, however, that about a month ago Simms came down to the home after dark woke them up and asked for his wife. When told that she was not at home she says, Simms exclaimed: "She is out with her sister, and if I see them I will kill them both." Simms says this is the same story that was proven false in the recent suit and he denies it emphatically. A writ of replevin has been placed in the hands of the constable to obtain a piano which is at the Freeman home, and which Simms says belongs to him. Casey, the usual good natured blacksmith, admits that the affair is wearing on him and he says he will be glad to see the end of it all.—Brazil Times.

The awards were $60 for the best span and $50 for the best single mule. Mr. Farmer won several prizes on mules at the fair last year.

A MISTAKE IN ORDERS

The Harmony east bound car and a west bound car, which was jammed to capacity, almost collided at a point near Chamberlain's Crossing on the T. H. I. & E. line about 7 o'clock last night. Through some mistake in orders the cars were running toward each other on the same track. Fortunately the cars were on a straight stretch of track when they approached each other and the men in charge stopped the cars in time to prevent a collision. The east bound Harmony car was compelled to shift the trolley and go all the way back to Hulman's to allow the west bound car to pass it on a switch.

The west bound car was crowded, people were standing in the aisle, and the east bound car was also well filled, so that had the cars met on a curve or a hill a disastrous accident likely could not have been averted.—Brazil Times.

Ladoga, Ind.—By order of Dr. Peacock, health officer here, the public schools of Ladoga, with the exception of the high school, were closed Monday on account of an outbreak of scarlet fever. TAKE A SHOT AT DELMAR ROBBERS

TWO MEN ARE DETECTED IN THE ROBBERY OF THE N. M. BOHANNON GENERAL STORE ON THURSDAY NIGHT.

ROBBER FIRES SHOT, ALSO

Two men, evidently tramps, detected in the act of robbing the general store of H. M. Bohannon at Delmar, Thursday night, by Walter Wright and Ora Brothers of Delmar, made their escape after an exchange of shots. The men after being alarmed ran out of the store by the back door, and were last seen running through a corn field west of the store. The robbers had a small amount of loot piled on the floor, but did not take time to gather it up. The only things missing was a shirt and a small quantity of tobacco.

Brothers & Wright were returning from the coal chute, where the former is employed, which is a few hundred feet east of the store, when they saw the two men hanging around a flour mill, just across the road from the store. Believing that the men might be planning to rob the office of the mill, Brothers remained to watch them while Wright went to his home, and procured a rifle. Just after Wright had returned, the two men broke into the front door of the store.

Wright and Brothers crossed the track, and in doing so attracted the attention of the two men and they ran out of the rear door of the store and Wright fired once at them. One of the robbers returned the shot but it is believed that both of the bullets went wild. The only description of the two robbers is that one was tall, and that the other was short and heavy. The police in surrounding towns have been asked to watch for any suspicious characters.

SCHOOLS SHOW LOSS OF PUPILS

ENROLLMENT AS COMPARED WITH LAST YEAR SHOWS DECREASE OF 34.

BUT SOME ARE STILL OUT

The enrollment of the public schools of Greencastle shows a slight decrease last year, but this probably will be made up in the next few weeks. Prof. H. G. Woody, superintendent of the schools, stated this morning that the number of pupils that will be enrolled this year probably would be within a few of the number enrolled last year.

This morning the total enrollment of the three ward schools was 499 compared with an enrollment of 529, at the end of the first month of the term last year. The enrollment of the high school was 212, compared with 216, enrolled at the end of the first month last year. As many of the pupils of the schools have not entered yet the number will be about the same as last year, when all are enrolled.

The enrollments of the various schools this morning, compared with the enrollment at the end of the first month of school last year, is as follows:

	This year	Last year
High School	212	216
First Ward	178	184
Second Ward	162	169
Third Ward	159	176
Total Enrollment	711	745

LIFE SAVED BY HIS ARM

Terre Haute, Ind. September 15.—Frank Tilley, Republican candidate for congress in the Fifth district, was shot in the arm by a holdup man on the road north of the city last night. An hour and a half earlier he had driven out the road and noticed two men under a tree. When he arrived at the spot on returning home one of the men caught the bridle of his horse. Tilley struck at him with his whip and the man at once discharged a revolver. Tilley was standing in the buggy by this time and the bullet entered his forearm, which was across his chest, and prevented a probably fatal wound.

A second bullet was fired as Tilley whipped up his horse and drove on, but it went wild. The first bullet passed through the flesh halfway between the wrist and elbow, breaking a small bone, and lodged below the skin on the under side of the arm. The wound will not keep him from filling his engagements. Tilley was on a political mission to the country last night. His speaking campaign will begin September 26.

SPECIAL JUDGE IN THE HOLDEN CASE

JAMES A. McNUTT, OF BRAZIL, WILL RULE ON POINTS DURING SUIT FOR DAMAGES AGAINST DOMESTIC BLOCK COAL CO.

SECOND HEARING OF CASE

James A. McNutt, of Brazil, is the special judge in the case of David Holden against the Domestic Block Coal Co., of Vigo county, which began trial in the Circuit Court on Monday. The case is one in which Holden asks $10,000 damages for personal injuries received while at work in the mine owned by the defendants.

The case originally was filed in Vigo county, and because of the defense failing to make appearance at the time set for trial Mr. Holden was given a defaulted verdict against the company for $3,500.

An error in the case, however, resulted in another trial and the case was venued here from Vigo and was tried in the February term of court. In this trial the plaintiff was given damages of $2500, but the defendants asked for a new trial and the request was granted by Judge Rawley.

When the case was called for a third trial recently the defense asked a change of venue from Judge Rawley and Judge McNutt was chosen to hear the case. The trial will probably take most of this week.

Mr. Airhart asks absolute divorce and the custody of the two minor children. The couple were married in 1882 and separated last month. Gillen & Wilson are attorneys for Mr. Airhart.

Good Way to Use
Hyomei for Catarrh

Besides breathing through the inhaler a few times a day, many catarrh sufferers write that they find inhaling HYOMEI (pronounced High-o-mei) from a bowl of steaming water each night before retiring a great aid in curing stubborn cases.

Fill a bowl half full of boiling water; pour into the water a teaspoonful of HYOMEI, cover head and bowl with a towel and breathe through nose and mouth the pleasant, medicated, antiseptic and healing vapor that arises.

This method relieves that stuffiness at once, and makes your head feel fine.

You can get a bottle of HYOMEI at druggists everywhere or at the Owl Drug Store for only 50 cents. Ask for extra bottle HYOMEI inhalant.

But bear in mind that a HOMEI outfit which includes inhaler and bottle of HYOMEI costs $1.00.

But, as stated before, if you already own an inhaler, a bottle of HYOMEI costs but 50 cents.

HYOMEI is guaranteed by the Owl Drug Store and druggists everywhere to cure catarrh, sore throat, coughs, colds, asthma, and croup, or money back. Try it on that generous basis.

Try it; it's very simple; gives quick relief and makes you breathe easier.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaint. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

It is interesting to note that this year the American farmer has sold his wool to the Woolen Trust for less than the European farmer received, and is compelled to pay about twice as much for woolen cloth as the European farmer. How does the tariff help any body but the trust?

THAT TARIFF COMMISSION.

Last winter, when the tariff battle was raging in the Senate, the Republican members who now call themselves insurgent, declared that they were still protectionists, but that they wanted a "tariff measured by the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad." It was upon this basis that Beveridge's famous "Tariff Commission" was ordered by the Senate and $250,000 voted to carry it on. The Republican press declared that this was a step toward a real solution of the tariff question, and that it would do away forever with the Democratic idea of "Tariff for Revenue." Now we see the other side of the matter. As might have been expected from the favorable attitude of Aldrich et al, the commission is without power. The members who have been visiting various American manufacturers have been told that the cost of production in these factories is a private matter and not to be divulged even to the tariff commission. Abroad the commissioners hear the same statement from the foreign manufacturers. They do not propose to publish to the world and their competitors their cost of production. So the commission finds itself absolutely without the power to secure any valuable data, and is reduced to the position of a figurehead. Only by the enormous dividends paid by the manufacturers may we guess that the cost of production is far below what the "interests" would have the public believe. The only way to reach the matter is to put the country on a tariff for revenue basis and let competition with the world demonstrate the relative cost of production.

Frank Thomas and F. E. Green went to Indianapolis Tuesday morning to buy stock and fixtures for their new drug store, which is to be located in the O'Connell building.

F. A. HAYS.SAYS THE LABORER
THREATENED HIMMEN ARRESTED FOR ASSAULT
ON LABORER AT RAILROAD
CAMP, SAY THAT BUSHREE THREATENED TO "CLEAN THEM UP."

SHOT ONLY TO SCARE HIM

Arrested on a charge of assault with intent to kill, E. J. Schauwecker, of Clay City, boss of the construction gang, which is building the Big Four switch at Fern, and Louis Back, cook for the outfit, were brought to town late Monday afternoon and arraigned before Mayor Miller. They pleaded not guilty to the charge and the time for their trial was set for Wednesday evening.

The two men were arrested on an affidavit filed Monday at noon by Clyde Bushree, a laborer, who came to town and told prosecutor Hughes that the two men had attacked him, the cook hitting him on the arm with a pick handle and the other shooting him in the arm as he ran away.

The laborer is about as tough a looking customer as has been seen around Greencastle in a long time. He had been at the camp only a short time when he decided to quit and in a controversy over the money due him the trouble, which resulted in the shooting, started.

Mr. Schauwecker states that the man, the day before the trouble, threatened to kill another laborer, and so badly intimidated him that he left the camp. Monday noon when he had the trouble with the boss he threatened to clean up the camp and Mr. Schauwecker says, acted as though he was about to draw a knife or revolver to attack him, when the cook took a hand and went after the laborer with a pick handle.

The laborer ran from the cook, but as he ran stooped to pick up a stone, when Schauwecker shot. He says he shot to scare the man and aimed at the ground. The laborer was stooping to pick up a stone, however, and the bullet, instead of striking the ground at his side, struck him in the arm.

Schauwecker and his cook furnished $500 bond for appearance at trial and were released from the custody of the sheriff. Both are nice appearing men. The laborer looks to be a tough customer and displayed a scar on his head, which he says is the mark of one of three bullets he received in a gambling brawl in North Dakota, while working on railroad work there.

COURT NOTES

THURSDAY.

The First National Bank, which recently filed suit for the collection on a note for $290 signed by D. C. Brackney and Joseph Brackney in which suit the bank tried to show that Joseph Brackney was liable, as surety, for payment of the note, lost its case, Judge Rawley having ruled against the bank in a decision recorded on Wednesday.

Joseph Brackney was made a defendant in the suit filed for the collection of the note. Mr. Brackney, however, proved that he had notified the bank that he desired to be relieved as surety on the note and asked the bank to collect the note. Instead of collecting, however, the bank accepted a payment of interest from D. C. Brackney and renewed the note. The judge found that in doing this the bank relieved Joseph Brackney from any liability.

The Savage will case is now occupying the time of the court and it is likely that the trial will not be finished for a couple of days.

Following is the business transacted by the Judge during the past two days:

In the matter of the estate of Arthur L. Reat, admr. estate of James O. Reat, to transfer bank stock—petition filed and stock ordered transferred; case stricken from docket.

Neely Wilson vs. J. W. Dunn—answer of defendant in 9 paragraphs and cross complaint of defendant in 2 paragraphs filed.

George H. McCaslin vs. City of Greencastle and C. R. Cameron—claim—cost bond filed.

The First National Bank vs. D. C. Brackney and J. E. Brackney—note—finding against Daniel Brackney in the amount of $319.90. Finding for defendant J. E. Brackney on the complaint and cross complaint.

The First National Bank vs. J. E. Brackney and D. C. Brackney, on note—defendants ruled to file answer Sept. 16. D. C. Brackney files answer in denial.

Rachel Springer et al vs. Eliza Lasley et al—partition—sale reported and approved.

Bessie Cantonwine vs. Charles Cantonwine, divorce—divorce granted to Bessie Cantonwine and custody of four children given her.

Alfred M. Stone vs. Mary J. Stone, divorce—cross complaint filed FRIDAY.

The following court business has been recorded on the docket during the past two days:

First National Bank vs. J. E. Brackney and D. C. Brackney on note—Separate demurrer of J. E. Brackney to complaint, filed.

In the matter of the estate of Eliza A. Whitted, final report—report of final settlement approved.

Gretchen Stallcop vs. J. M. Robinson Morton & Co., to quiet title—motion of defendant to require Gretchen Stallcop to submit to an examination under oath is sustained. Time and place to be fixed later by the judge.

THE STATE FAIR
MADE A HISTORYEIGHTEEN THOUSAND PAID AT TENDANCE ON LAST FRIDAY.
TOTAL ATTENDANCE DURING WEEK WAS 130,716.

TOTAL WAS 10,000 HIGHER

The State Fair last week made history all along the line. It set a new mark for attendance every day, with the exception of Monday, and the paid admissions amounting to 130,716, were nearly ten thousand more than the record of any year. To this total might be added twelve thousand children and old soldiers who were admitted free on Tuesday. The exhibitors, employees and others entering on passes would bring the total number of people on the grounds during the week close to 170,000. The paid attendance for Friday was eighteen thousand and 1,100 more than for Friday of last year.

It was difficult for Jap La-grange, treasurer of the fair, to get at the total income for the week for several thousand dollars that was to come from department superintendents had not all been accounted for. It is expected, however, that the fair will show a profit of a few thousand dollars. It will not be enough to square the losses on the expositions of last year. It is stated, and big as the event was in all directions it is doubtful whether the state board of agriculture can see its way to build a wing to the brick barn and carry out some other construction work that has long been contemplated.

Obituary.

Mary, daughter of Martin and Polly Frank, was born Feb. 25, 1854, and died Sept. 7, 1910, after a short illness of paralysis. She was united in marriage with John Miller, Sept. 20, 1876. To this union six children were born; four daughters and two sons. One daughter, Cunia, preceded her to the beyond. Those who survive her are, Mrs. Chas. Hart, Mrs. Edward Bettis, Goldie, William and Charles. She is also survived by two grand-children, five brothers and three sisters. Her funeral was held at the Union Chapel; burial in the Union Chapel cemetery. Rev. Miles conducted the services. She lived a Christian life, having united with the M. E. Church when a child. About five years ago her membership was transferred to the U. B. Church, of which she was a member at the time of her death. Her greatest pleasure was when she was teaching her children and friends the word of Christ.

Dear mother; bright, fairest, best, Alas, our hearts have bled for thee For 'ere thy gentle spirit passed to rest

Death held it, struggling to be free Farewell dear mother; thou art gone,

To Jesus forever to dwell; How vacant our dear home appears;

Farewell, dear mother, farewell, Day after day life ebbed away, And still thy uncomplaining soul A veteran courage did display,

That marked it for no earthly goal, And while we mourn thy blissful shore;

The angels celebrate thy worth, And death can harm thy life no more.

Then rest in peace, dear, patient heart, From earth's brief joys and lingering pain;

Thy spirit destined to depart, Dwells in paradise—free again.

The two frame shacks that have stood on the lot belonging to Andrew A. Black at the corner of Indiana and Walnut streets, were torn down Tuesday morning. It was the intention of Mr. Black to build a modern two story brick building on the lots, but the deal has fallen through and there will be no buildings on the ground. The shacks have been one of the eye sores of the town, and the tearing down of them adds greatly to the looks of the corner.

All indications point to a cold blooded murder of the man whose body was found in a covered well on the farm of Jacob Shoemaker, near Martinsville Tuesday morning. It is known that two junk dealers, supposed to be from Indianapolis, traveling in a covered wagon, camped near the farm. Only one man was in the wagon when it was driven away from the camp next day. The occupant of the vehicle went to Martinsville and asked a member of a junk firm to say nothing about his being there. He gave as his reason for silence that a lot of brass had been lost by a farmer in Putnam county. The man answers to the description of the man who camped near Plano, and was seen burning bloody clothing, which he said had been sold to him by a farmer in Putnam county.

T. W. Gibson, of Morton, has gone to Martinsville to take treatment for rheumatism.

The insane man who is now confined in the county jail is said to be a sufferer of epilepsy and the sheriff probably will make arrangements to send him to the state hospital for epileptics.

NO REASON FOR IT.

When Greencastle Citizens Show the Certain Way Out.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of diabetes of any kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that they can be cured. Read what a Greencastle citizen says:

George W. Wood, farmer, of Greencastle, Ind., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble and had severe pains in the small of my back. About four years ago I had an acute attack and I was in a bad shape. The passages of the kidney secretions were too frequent and painful and often I could hardly get around. When in that condition, it was my good fortune to hear about Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply at the Jones, Stevens Co.'s Drug Store. I must say they benefited me more than any other kidney remedy I had ever taken. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for my present good health."

ARM BROKEN WHILE PLAYING FOOTBALL.

Robert Athey, the 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Athey, received a broken arm on Wednesday afternoon while playing football with a number of other small boys, in the yard of the First Ward School. Robert had the ball, and was running with it, when he was tackled by a member of the opposing side. He was thrown heavily to the ground with his right arm under him. The fall broke the arm just above the wrist. He was taken to the office of Dr. Zaring, who saw him on Monday and Tuesday.

DRESDEN--A MOST BEAUTIFUL CITY

ALTHOUGH 700 YEARS OLD IT IS MODERN AND UP-TO-DATE IN EVERY WAY—THINGS OF INTEREST THERE.

BEST WORKS OF ART, THERE

Dresden, Germany, Aug. 2, 1910—Here is one of the most interesting as well as one of the most beautiful cities of Germany. It arrogates to itself the title of "The Florence of Germany," and claims to be the art and music center of the German Empire. Possibly this is true; yea, probably it is. Its Royal Art Gallery is rich beyond comparison in the highest examples of the art of many masters of the olden time, when compared with other German galleries and it has the enviable distinction of housing Raphael's Sistine Madonna, to my eyes the most beautiful picture I have ever seen embodying as it does, to my mind, all that is conceivable in point and canvass of the godlike and the human combined. A description of the picture is not possible, for its blending, colors and lights and shades are beyond the description powers of my pen while the lures of the picture are well-known the world over by reason of its copies in oil, its engraved fac similes, and photographs; people who have not seen the Sistine Madonna in some such form should make haste to do so, for in it they will see the noblest designed Madonna the world has ever known. In the Gallery this picture is in a class all by itself; it is in a room, and there it is supreme, as no other pictures are placed therein to detract attention from it; it hangs under the best auspices and most favorable light, so that all its beauty is before your eyes when you enter the room and surely it is a sight to satisfy all eyes seeking the beautiful.

This Royal Gallery is rich in having also some of the best works of Titiano, Vecelle, Verocchio, Ruben Guido Reni, Sir Peter Lily, Temers, the Younger, Batoni, Michael Angelo Van Dyck, Rembrandt, Bockelmann and others of fame. In all there are almost 2500 paintings on sight in the gallery, and the amazing fact is that they are largely representative of the best in art in oil colors, which most other Continental Galleries of such magnitude, are largely filled with works of small merit individually and largely from the brushes of men who do not rank high in the world of art.

Dresden is a city of about 600,000 people; it is the capital city of the Kingdom of Saxony, and strange as it may appear the royal family, including the King, are communicants of the church of Rome, while only a few of his subjects are Catholics. In the city of Dresden as we are informed only 30,000 of the nearly 600,000 people residing in the city, are Catholics, and our information is that there are only three Roman Catholic Churches in the city. Dresden is over 700 years old and yet there is nothing in the way of antique castles churches, or other buildings in or about the city—it is all modern and attractive. One of the peculiarities of the city is known as the Schrieber Gardens. These are small gardens scattered all about the city, wherein there are flowers and vegetables grown by the families occupying them, and the rental of each garden is said to be 12 marks, equaling $3.00 per year. They are called Schrieber Gardens because the idea originated with one Dr. Schrieber, and his name is thus perpetuated. We are told that in the city of Leipzig there are about 1500 of these Schrieber Gardens. Dresden is built on both sides of the River Elbe. In our journey here from Carlsbad the railroad ran along the river bank for many miles, and it was instructive to see the way the Austrians and Germans take advantage of the water ways for transportation. The Elbe is not as large a river as the Ohio, but all along its banks are the best facilities for loading and unloading freight on the steamers and the barges tow. The river channel is kept open by government dredges and when needed the government has put in "locks" so that the steamers and barges are not effected by low water. There is more freight transported on the River Elbe by boat, than on the railroads that skirt it on each bank and this freight is carried profitably at a rate one-third lower than the railroads can carry the same class of freight. Virtually all the heavy freight that does not require rapid freight transportation, is carried on the river, and in this all the people are benefited as it gives cheap transportation for the products of farm, and factory and mine to the best markets. The United States is not apt to have transportation on its inland water ways of this character so long as the railroad magnates control legislation, as they do now and have for years past.

We had a queer experience at the Carlsbad railway station. We had bought tickets for passage from Carlsbad to Dresden and we supposed we had everything necessary to get abroad the train and journey to our destination but lo and behold a railway official arrayed most dazlingly in blue cloth, gold braid, brass buttons, etc., tackled us and endeavored to inform us that we had to secure another set of tickets before we could ride on the train. We did not understand him and our attempt to so inform him was not understood by him. We swapped words even, English for German for a goodly time and neither seemed to land a knock out, when we were helped by a passer by who told us that we had to go to the local ticket office and buy a ticket for each of the party and that there we could get on the train and begin our journey, but that according to Austrian law, these "seat" or "place" tickets had to be bought by every person. In the meantime the porter had gone on with our luggage and when we finally reached the seats in the train assigned to us there was no porter in sight and no "luggage" in sight, and we needed a clean collar at the next stop. I immediately got busy and found my belongings located six cars to the rear of where we were billeted, and as the porter was no where in sight I had to "tustle" it to our quarters. After accomplishing this feat of sweat and toil, the porter got on my trail and had to be paid for the baggage totting I had just done. Enroute our locomotive broke down, not far from the city of Brux. Two minutes after the train came to a stand still railroad employes dressed in blue and gold were swarming around that train like buzzards at a deadening, where they all came from I do not know, but they all seemed to get busy; they examined the locomotive, the passenger cars, the "luggage" cars, the air brakes etc., and in the meantime word had been sent to Brux that the locomotive was dead beyond immediate resurrection. The train was a heavy one of twelve coaches and the up grade of the road was heavy, and after a time two little switch engines arrived to take the place of our disabled one, and we proceeded to Tepitz at a snail's pace, arriving at Dresden over an hour late. This was the first time in all our thousands of miles of travel on this side of the Atlantic that we had been on a train that arrived at our destination late; always before we were on time to the dot, and the trains are scheduled very fast here for "through" business, the slow trains making what we call the "local" business.

In our goings about in Dresden we have been shown the house in which dwelt Wagner for two years, and in which he wrote "Lohengrin," and we have seen the house in which Goethe lived, and also the home of Carl von Weber.

There are 11,000 soldiers living in barracks in Dresden and connected with the barracks are the drill grounds, etc., necessary to handling this army of men. Connected with the barracks is a church that is altogether out of the ordinary, in that it is a Catholic and a Protestant Church all under one roof and with one bell to summon the worshippers. This church is for the officers and the soldiers, and a wall is built through it, dividing the edifice into a place of worship for each of the two classes of worshippers. Another church with a peculiarity is the handsome Catholic Church known as the "Court" Church, in that it is connected with the Royal Palace by a private covered way, leading from the second story of the palace to the court seats in the church.

There is interest in viewing the field of the Battle of Dresden, fought Aug. 26 and 27, 1813, between the French under Napoleon, and the allied armies of Austria, Prussia and Russia. In this battle the French General Moreau, who was fighting with the allies against Napoleon, was mortally wounded, as he stood by the side of the Czar of Russia, and a monument was erected to his memory on the spot where he was wounded. Near by is the modern Bismark tower, erected to the memory of this statesman and his work, and here, every summer in June, the "students" of Dresden meet on a certain date and kindle great bon-fires. The why and the wherefore you must find out for yourself; I don't know; the guide didn't know, and I could not take a day off to learn. Soon after we left this scene of battle we were shown a house in which Carl von Weber composed his most popular opera, "The Freischutz", and there we wended our way to the hotel for restoration and restoration.

As I went my way along the highways and byways of this continent I endeavor to keep my eyes open and see that which to American eyes is uncommon. At times I think that the whole world averages up about the same, and then again I have "another think" coming. For instance until today I thought that I had seen the German women engaged in all the useful occupations possible to them but I had not. I had seen a woman and a cow hitched on different sides of the tongue to a wagon, each pulling a share of the load; I had seen on scores of occasions, a dog and a woman as team partners hitched to a wagon and doing good service in the hauling line, but today I saw two new combinations in this business. One team consisted of two young girls and a big dog doing duty in pulling a load of hay along the highway—the dog between shafts and the girls hooked to the vehicle on each side of the dog, and an hour or so afterwards I saw a "team" just the reverse of this, i. e. two dogs and one woman.

We had forgotten the fact until it was brought to mind by an English speaking German, that it was the King of Saxony, who lives here in royal splendor, in royal places, who lost his wife a few years ago in a way that was not orthodox. It appears that the royal couple did not get along very well; there was no love lost between them; in fact the indications are that there was no love to lose. A French teacher, employed to impart knowledge to the six little Princes and Princesses resultant from this marriage, was a fine looking, of pleasing address, exquisite in manners, cultured and good in his conduct about the palace, and he and the queen fell in love with each other; next they planned a "get away," and they planned so well that the elopement proved a success. They safely crossed the German frontier, but they did not love each other forever afterwards, so the story goes, as the self exiled queen is living in Florence, Italy, by her "lonesome" and the French teacher who was her companion in flight, has disappeared, and his whereabouts is not known; he may be food for fishes or women for aught we know.

There are some German staples in the food line we have yet to become acquainted with on there native health—sausages of all sorts, sizes and colors, are sold everywhere, but we have not sampled them; kraut is on the bill of fare everywhere but I have not introduced it to my digestive apparatus—what is the good of experimenting in this line when you can get what you know is healthful, and agreeable, and satisfying?

The German guests in German hotels are generally courteous and polite to the utmost. For instance, when we enter a dining room all the guests within sight bow and greet us, even if we are strangers, and should any of them finish their meal and leave the dining room while others were still still eating they bow their adieu to the guests before leaving the room. This custom, which is universal in Germany, was a sensation to us at first, but we have gotten used to it and now we make our entry or exist from the dining room with all the politeness and grace that could be expected even from a native.

It appears that the German professional man is proud of his degrees as doctor and any other destruction in his line. One of the signs placed on the outside of the office of one of Dresden's well-known doctors, reads: "Professor Dr. Smidt; Smidt is not his name, but we use it by way of illustrating; other physicians signs read: Doctor Med Smidt, F. R. S. M. A. and other similar strings of letters denoting degrees follow the name.

As we were journeying to the Picture Gallery we saw a crowd rubber necking "in the Palace Plaza, so we joined the host to see what was going on. Soon there appeared a handsome carriage drawn by a pair of magnificent black horse, decked out in gold mounted harness, and in the carriage were two women; they were absolutely ugly women; they had good clothes on and all that, but that was all that was at all attractive about them. As they came through the gate the soldiers on ground turned out, and gave them the regulation salute, and then we began inquiring as to who the women were. After hard work, with the little German we had on tap, we learned that the big blonde was the Princess Mathilda, and that the brunette was her "Lady in Waiting," but what the "lady in waiting" is I don't know. Shortly after leaving the Picture Gallery we struck another sensation, to wit: the Band of the Royal Guards numbering seventy-four, and they were just beginning the daily afternoon concert in the Palace Plaza; we listened a short time and then made time to the hotel for "eats". Hagenbeck's Menagerie is exhibiting here, and it reminded us of home. In talking European travel with an American lady, a few days ago, we touched upon the tipping system, and she remarked that she had bought "hotel coupons," to avoid giving tips, but lo and behold, said she, when I read the printing on the coupons I learned that the "usual gratuities" had to be paid to the hotel people; as a matter of fact the coupon read, "the usual gratuities," I smiled but said nothing. One of the trials of travel in Europe is eating—the provender is very good but the time required to consume it is almost illimitable. For instance, I have timed the dinner business at divers hotels, and it requires from one hour and a quarter to over two hours to eat the meal. This because it is served in "courses," and usually there is plenty of time for digestion and assumption of the "course" eaten before the next "course" is served, and there is no remedy; you can't hurry matters by kicking or coaxing—just grin and bear it. Yesterday an old gentleman from Iowa sat at a table next to us eating dinner. The meal dragged along; he got his soup, his fish, his roast beef and vegetables, his poultry and salad, his sweets, and he grew more nervous and irritable as the meal progressed. The cheese was yet to be served and he urged the waiter to move with alacrity. Then he waited and waited, but no cheese came and he got up from the table, slammed the chair against the wall and remarked to me, "It is too d—long between drinks to suit me," and he hiked from the dining room. After we had registered and had been assigned to rooms 64 and 65 in this hotel, we were posted in by letters on the bulletin board, as occupying these rooms as follows: "Herr Arnold family." When I saw this I became indignant and tackled the manager about it. He did not understand why I was indignant, and after much explanation and making an exhibit of plans and specifications, etc., I finally got him to see why I disliked being called "Herr" when I really was "He", and he laid back and laughed until he shook like a hunk of jelly and the rolls and wrinkles about his jaws and neck were deep, and long, and well defined.

Our arrival in Berlin was not as expected; we landed at a different railroad station from the one we had arrived at before and on looking about to get my bearings I was lost; did not know where "I was at." Could find no hotel porters, and had difficulty in finding a cab, but we finally got housed comfortably. We are at the "Nurenburger"—a fac simile of the houses in picturesque Nurenburg, and we are well cared for. Time is short and we have seen the sights of the city in a hurried manner. With a guide and a carriage we drove the length of Unter der Lurden, saw the different royal palaces, the "Brandenburg Gate" with its chariot of victory surmounting it. We done the "Tiergarten," and passed along the "Siegesallee," with its thirty-two marble monuments representing the ancestors of the Prussian Royal Family. Then we drove down Berlin's Fifth Avenue, where "The Four Hundred" live. We saw innumerable statues in marble and bronze en route to the Emperor William Memorial church a magnificent structure, thence on to Charlottenburg to see the old Royal Palace, built in 1695 and then to the Mausoleum built in 1810, wherein repose the remains of Emperor Frederick William III and William I and the Empress Augusta. This mausoleum is a work of art in every particular, and is the most beautiful in design and internal arrangement and light that we have ever seen or ever dreamed of. Of course we saw Palace now occupied by the Kaiser, the Parliament Buildings and other public buildings, and the museums, and galleries. We visited the Royal Palace, going through all the rooms open to the public—internally it is much the same as all other palaces we have visited, but one experience was new. We were required to put on heavy felt slippers at the entrance and wear them until we made our exit, to the end that the highly polished floors of the palace might not be marred or scarred by our plebian shoes, and we had to pay an admission fee before we were allowed to put on the slippers.

As I walked along Neuter der Louden this morning at peace with the world, and no troubles in view an old gentleman stopped me and said "Do you speak English?" I told him I spoke nothing else, and then he told me his troubles. He was a delegate to the World's Congress of Liberal Religions, in session in Berlin; had just arrived and had lost his credentials and other papers; could talk no German and was absolutely lost and could not find himself. After a talk, I advised him to go to the American Counsel and state his case, assuring him that the Counsel would "find him", would direct him to the place of meeting of the Congress, and round him up generally, and then I piloted him to a point from which I could show him the house of the Counsel. In the afternoon I learned that he was happily located, found what he wanted and I hope he will be happy ever after. More some other day. We go to Frankfurt or Main tomorrow. F.A.A.

TAX BOARD HAD TO PAY.

Members Wonder Why They Did Not Get Fair Passes.

Members of the state board of tax commissioners, who look on their board as the basic element in the financial system of the state, and, therefore, of vital importance to the financial welfare of the state board of agriculture, which has charge of the state fair, are wondering why they, of all the attaches of the state government at the statehouse, have been compelled to dig down into their pockets for admission money at the state fair gates this week. John W. McCordie, C. C. Matson and Fred L. Gemmer, members of the board, have sought explanations of why they were overlooked when the annual distributive of passes was made, but thus far have received no explanation which, in their opinion, explains. They say they do not care for the price of admission, but are mildly interested to know why they were overlooked.

While the employes, attaches and officials at the statehouse were taken care of this year in the matter of passes, the little books of tickets providing for admissions for all the five days of the fair were not distributed as freely as heretofore. Every attaché got one, and no more.—Indianapolis News.

WAS ROBBED BY PUTNAM WOMAN

LULU BELLE COFFMAN, OF BAINBRIDGE, CHARGED WITH ROBBERY OF $115 AND WATCH.

ARRESTED IN INDIANAPOLIS

Lulu Belle Coffman, of Bainbridge, Ind., was arrested last night by Detectives Duncan and Dawson, charged with stealing $115 and a watch from Harry Kemper, of Brightwood a railroad engineer. According to Kemper he met the woman at a saloon, and, after a few drinks, they went for a walk. They met a man who accompanied them, he said. Later Kemper missed his valuables, and, when he accused the woman, she ran from him screaming, he said. He identified the Coffman woman, he said, as the one who was with him, and she admitted it, but denied getting his money or watch. Edward Newgent, 913 Rathbone street was arrested by the detectives charged with loitering, as Kemper said he believed he was the man who was with the woman and him. Newbury was arrested when he called at the Police Station to see what had become of the woman.—Indianapolis Star.

Lulu Belle Coffman is known in Greencastle, having been employed as maid by several Greencastle people. She is about 25 years old.

CLEM B. KNAUER FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE TODAY

Suit for divorce was filed in Circuit Court this afternoon by Clem B. Knauer, who asks divorce from his wife, Etta M. Knauer. The couple live nine miles west of Greencastle. Mr. Knauer alleges inhuman and cruel treatment specifying that his wife refuses to live in the same house with him and that she would not prepare his meals. He alleges that she left him last April going to another house on his farm to live and that she refuses to come back to live with him.

TWO ARE SLIGHTLY INJURED

Whiskey and a fast 1911-model Buick automobile, were the undoing of a Terre Haute crowd of joy riders Thursday afternoon at near 3 o'clock, when the machine, which was being driven at a rate of near 40 miles an hour, struck the masonry of the iron bridge, which spans Deer Creek on the National road just east of Putnamville.

Four persons, two women and two men, were in the car when it struck and all were thrown from the machine. One woman suffered a broken nose and the driver of the car has two fractured ribs.

It is said that all the occupants of the machine had been drinking. All refused to give their names or state where they were from, but it is believed that the party was from Terre Haute.

A telephone message was sent to Dr. W. M. McGaughey and he went to the scene and brought the joy riders to his office where the injuries of the two were dressed. The party took the 5:45 interurban car to Terre Haute after leaving instructions with Fred Goodwine to get the car and bring it to his garage.

The car was coming east at a great rate of speed when the driver noticed the bridge. The road at the bridge takes a sudden turn to the right. The driver states that he did not notice the sharp turn in the road until nearly to the bridge. Then his brake failed to work. He managed to swing the machine around, but it struck the masonry of the bridge wrecking the machine and throwing its occupants to the ground.

Had he not managed to swing the car onto the bridge it would have gone over the bank and into the creek. Pure luck it was that the members of the party were not badly injured.

The party consisted of two men, both large fellows, and appearing to be about 40 years old. One of the women was a tall blonde, while the other was short, dark complexioned and plump.

M'CULLOUGH CAME BY THE HUNDREDS

FOUR HUNDRED MEMBERS OF THE M'CULLOUGH FAMILY GATHERED IN REUNION.

ORGANIZATION IS FORMED

A crowd which numbered more than 500, 400 of which were members of the family gathered in the beautiful grove at the old McCullough homestead three miles north of Poland Sunday in the first McCullough family reunion. The reunion was such a success that the family organized for a permanent association and will hold annual reunions at the old family homestead. The reunion next year will be more extensive and a program committee on arrangements was appointed.

The spot selected for the reunion is not only a beautiful one, but is most appropriate, being one of the exact home spots where William and Thomas McCullough settled in 1826. The grove is the old sugar orchard where the original McCullough settlers made their own sugar when the only cane sugar that could be obtained anywhere was shipped from Cincinnati at a very great expense. Part of the foundations of the old furnace for the sugar kettle are still there and the original home is standing.

The count of those present showed that over 500 people were in attendance and of this number all but one hundred were members of the immediate families, scores coming from various points in Clay, Owen and Putnam counties, and points more distant.

The following officers were elected: Riley McCullough, president; Richard Lawson, vice president; Ethel McCullough, secretary; T. Modesitt, treasurer.

No regular program was arranged for the event, but Attorney Albert Payne spoke giving a review of the family history in the county. The reunion was an old-fashioned mix-as-you-will, affair, the chief feature of which was the big basket dinner which was served at noon.

One of the most interesting persons attending was Jack Payne, the oldest member of the family, born in Clay county in 1830. Uncle James McCullough one of the oldest settlers in this vicinity was also a conspicuous figure in the meeting.

THREATENED TO KILL HER

Another chapter to the Will Irwin divorce case was written on Monday when Mrs. Gertrude Irwin, through her attorneys, John H. James, filed a cross-complaint to his petition for divorce, in which Mrs. Irwin makes sensational charges against her husband.

Mrs. Irwin in her cross complaint says that William Irwin has been guilty of the most cruel and inhuman treatment; that he has slapped, struck and beat her, that he at one time struck her with a stick of wood and bruised her person most seriously to the extent that she carried the bruise upon her person for weeks; that he threatened to shoot and kill her, that he tore her wearing apparel from her person and destroyed her clothes; that he refused to furnish her with the necessary food and provisions to support her and her minor children.

That she found letters in his clothes and pockets from other women of lewd character. That he has locked her and their child out of their home and refused to them admittance at night and driven them into the streets without any money or means whatever to care for themselves.

She further says that he has struck her with cooking utensils, broke and destroyed her dishes and says that he has an ungovernable temper, and acts at times like a crazy man, and has been most cruel and inhuman with his wife and minor children, more especially with his wife, daughter and small son, Frank.

That he is and has been for a number of years an employee in the post office at Greencastle, Ind., that while filling said position, he being an employee at night, he has been so immoral that he has been guilty of handling and exchanging notes with and for lewd men and women.

She further alleges that he has on numerous occasions associated with lewd women and that he has in the presence of their children, cursed her and called her obscene names. That he knocked her down and then threw a davenport upon her. Mrs. Irwin alleges that her husband is unfit to care for their children and asks absolute divorce and the custody of their children.

This afternoon Attorney James the arguments on the petition to asking Judge Rawley to order William Irwin to pay to his wife money to support herself and her son, whom it is alleged he turned out of his home, and also money with which to pay her expenses and attorneys in the prosecution of her suit against him for divorce. Judge Rawley will hear the arguments in the petition tomorrow morning.

HOSPITAL FAIR TO BE OCTOBER 8

MEETING OF THE PUTNAM COUNTY ASSOCIATION HELD MONDAY AT THE HOME OF MRS. W. R. HUTCHESON.

PLAN TOWNSHIP ENTERPRISE

The Putnam County Hospital association will hold a fair on Saturday, October 8, probably in the corridors of the Courthouse as last year. The consent of the county commissioners to hold the fair in the courthouse has not been secured, but it is probable that the commissioners will grant the request that will be made and that the fair will be held there.

The feature of this year's fair will be a scheme to have each township in the county represented with some sort of an exhibit or sale table. The members of the association have written to women in each township, asking them to plan work for a table and it is believed that the out-township women will enter into the spirit of the affair and arrange splendid attractions.

These things were decided Monday afternoon at a meeting of the association held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Hutcheson. The meeting was largely attended and the women seemed to be very enthusiastic over the proposed project. Committees were appointed Monday to start the work of preparing for the fair.

Tonic or Stimulant?

There is an immense difference between a tonic and a stimulant. Up one day, way back the next; that's a stimulant. Steady progress day by day toward perfect health; that's a tonic. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic, a strong tonic. The only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Do not stimulate unless your doctor says so. He knows. Ask him. Do as he says. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Constipation is the one great cause of sick-headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath, debility, nervousness. Has your doctor ever recommended Ayer's Pills to you?

Specifications are now on file in the Auditor's Office. The location of the bridge is as follows:

Over Big Raccoon Creek, the bridge being known as the Clod-felter Bridge.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish bond for a sum twice the amount of his bid with not less than two freehold surties to be approved by the Board.

Attention Sick Women

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it?

If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful.

Hudson, Ohio.—"I suffered for a long time from a weakness, inflammation, dreadful pains each month and suppression. I had been doctoring and receiving only temporary relief, when a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and wrote to you for advice. I have faithfully followed your directions and now, after taking only five bottles of the Vegetable Compound, I have every reason to believe I am a well woman. I give you full permission to use my testimonial."—Mrs. Lena Carnocino, Hudson, Ohio. R. F. D. No. 7.

St. Regis Falls, N. Y.—"Two years ago I was so bad that I had to take to my bed every month, and it would last from two to three weeks. I wrote to you for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in dry form. I am happy to say that I am cured, thanks to your medicine and good advice. You may use my letter for the good of others."—Mrs. J. H. Breyere, St. Regis Falls, N. Y.

There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

INDIANA MEN KILLED IN OKLA.

FORMER RESIDENTS OF WAVE-
LAND, IN MONTGOMERY COUN-TY, BRUTALLY ATTACKED AT NIGHT IN THEIR HOME.

ARE BEATEN WITH CLUBS

Waveland, Sept. 20.—A story of probable tragic death and attempted murder in its most horrible form was told in a telegram received here last evening by T. N. Shepherd. The message conveyed the news that Mr. Shepherd's two brothers, John and Taylor Shepherd, had been foully assaulted in Newkirk, Oklahoma, Thursday night. After the two men had retired some unknown person or persons entered their home and beat both with clubs, leaving them for dead. The Shepherds were discovered by neighbors Friday morning, and both were in a dying condition and with no hope of their recovery. Mr. Shepherd left immediately for Newkirk.

The telegram received here assigns no motive for the brutal attack on the two men and the many friends of both John and Taylor are at a loss to know the cause of tragic occurrence. It is thought that robbery might have been the motive.

Both John and Taylor Shepherd are well known in this place and vicinity. Several years ago John removed his family to Oklahoma and Taylor followed soon after to make his home with his brother's family. Later John's wife died and the two men lived together alone, keeping no help and doing their own housework and cooking. Both were born and spent their early life at Freedom, four miles north of Waveland.
